

Becoming a Chartered Linguist – registration criteria

The Chartered Linguist register is held by CIOL in the public interest. Chartered Linguists must be able to demonstrate competence as a practising linguist, based on a combination of qualifications, experience, current professional practice, and a commitment to maintaining skills and knowledge through CPD (Continuing Professional Development).

Enhanced Professional Recognition

A Chartered professional is a person who has gained a certain level of skill or competence in a particular field of work, which has been recognised by the award of a formal credential by a relevant professional organisation. Chartered status is considered a mark of professional competency, and is awarded mainly by chartered professional bodies and learned societies.¹

Chartership is recognised worldwide as the gold standard for practitioners, whatever their profession. It is publicly understood as a badge of quality and competence. Chartership provides assurance to users of language services, inspiring confidence with employers, clients and fellow language practitioners. It confirms commitment to CPD and denotes that as a Chartered Linguist, a practitioner is committed to maintaining high professional standards, continually developing professional language skills and specialist knowledge. Chartership demonstrates commitment to improving standards and to professionalising the language industry.

Who can apply for CIOL chartership?

Chartership is available to all full-paying CIOL members (and applicant members) in the following grades:

- CIOL full Member – MCIL
- CIOL Fellow – FCIL

Chartership is not available to CIOL members (or linguists from other qualifying organisations) who are on a concessionary rate or in a retired grade of membership who, by definition, are not in current and/or frequent professional practice. Chartership is not available to honorary members.

Other qualifying organisations

Applications for chartership are also welcome from members and fellows (or equivalent) of other qualifying organisations, currently the Institute of Translation and Interpreting (ITI) and the International Association of Conference Interpreters (AIIC).

Fees

Chartership (assessment and registration) is free for CIOL members (and applicant members). A non-refundable assessment fee (£50.00) and an annual registration fee (£99.00) is payable by non-CIOL members from other qualifying organisations (to cover assessment and administration costs).

For CIOL members this will form part of the annual invitation to renew their membership, sent out in July.

For applicant Members and Fellows, applying for chartership will be part of the membership admission process.

- g. I confirm my understanding and continued consent to abide by the CIOL's Code of Professional Conduct

 - disciplinary complaints which have been made against me and upheld
- i. I confirm that I have no unspent criminal conviction(s), as defined under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974
- j. I agree to notify CIOL should my circumstances change and understand that this may affect my current and ongoing registration

Auditing process

CIOL will randomly select for audit, a percentage of all registrations (from CIOL members) received each month. In addition, new CL applicants who select more than two designations will be automatically audited. If selected, CLs will be required to provide, within 60 days, the following evidence in order to maintain registration as a Chartered Linguist:

- An up-to-date CV giving details of professional experience
- Evidence of current professional practice
- Evidence of CPD activities, including the number of hours spent, over the previous two years, plus a reflective statement of 500 to 1,000 words on CPD undertaken plus a forward plan, based on their reflection on previous CPD activities

CIOL will provide additional guidance on the evidence needed including format and how this should be submitted. Evidence supplied will initially be assessed by the CIOL membership team. Should the evidence submitted not meet the criteria the membership team will provide feedback. At this point, registration may be provisionally suspended until we have resolved the issues. Cases that cannot be resolved will be referred to the Institute's Chartered Linguist Registration Board for a final decision.

Should evidence not be supplied within the stipulated timeframe then chartership will automatically be suspended, unless the CL has contacted the membership team to discuss an extension.

Reapplying

Unsuccessful applicants will be eligible to reapply following a break of 12 months and on submission of the requisite evidence to support registration.

CLs whose registration is revoked will be treated on a case-by-case basis.

Renewing chartership

CIOL members who are chartered will automatically retain their chartership on:

- Renewal of their CIOL membership
- Confirmation that the criteria for registration continue to be met; this will be obtained through a series of declarations
- Agreement to provide evidence if selected for audit

Appeals

Unsuccessful applicants and Chartered Linguists called for audit who subsequently have their registration revoked, will have the right to appeal under the current arrangements.
